

DANIEL HERSKEDAL MAGNUS MOKSNES MYHRE DESERT LIGHTHOUSE

Organ and tuba. Not the most common ensemble, but a very exciting soundscape with unexplored sound possibilities. Organist Magnus Moksnes Myhre and jazz tuba player Daniel Herskedal met for the first time as students at the music conservatory in Trondheim, and the duo have now created a completely new vibe with their Desert Lighthouse. Their many sources of inspiration meet in their shared fascination with the oriental tonal language. [Cover art by Bendik Kaltenborn.]

MEET THE ARTISTS

The Herskedal-Myhre Duo met at the Trondheim Music University and quickly found common musical ground. Daniel Herskedal made his definitive international breakthrough in 2015 with the album Slow Eastbound Train (Edition Records), which received brilliant record and concert reviews from the European and American press. His chamber music release Behind The Wall on Naxos (8.574189) attracted similar attention in 2019. Magnus Moksnes Myhre is organist and the daily cathedral cantor in Molde Cathedral, and together they unite in an unexpected beauty inspired by the oriental tonal language.

PRESS QUOTES

'Such is the range of Herskedal's tuba, from deep bass growl to high-pitched cry, and so lyrical his playing, that it is not always easy to distinguish tuba from bass trumpet.'

- AllAboutJazz.com

'The tuba player and composer Daniel Herskedal has established a reputation for radiant eloquence and flawless virtuosity on an instrument not easily associated with either.'

- The Guardian

'Herskedal creates moods, melodies and soundscapes so strong, beautiful and personal as possibly imaginable.'
